

Five Australian destinations that should be on your road trip bucket list!

Let Allianz inspire you with a road trip to remember

WITH a broad range of destinations within city limits, the perfect way to capture the sights, sounds and buzz of an Australian hot spot is by taking a one-day road trip. Hop between Victoria's local produce and wine to Tasmania's sandy beaches and incredible bushwalks this weekend as you work your way through these bucket-list worthy Australian day trips.

BERRY, NSW

Just two hours from Sydney, Berry is best known for its fresh and innovative food and wine scene. Aside from The Famous Berry Donut Van, foodies should check out breakfast at The Burrows of Berry, lunch at Sourdough and dinner at SOUTH on albany. When you're not eating, head to the Drawing Room Rocks Bushwalk and Lookout, before finishing off the day with a dip at Shoalhaven Heads.

CANBERRA, ACT

Immerse yourself in the proud history and culture of our capital city by visiting the Australian War Memorial, the National Museum and Parliament House. After seeing the sights, reward yourself with 360-degree views from up top of Mount Ainslie, before checking out the burgeoning food and wine scene Canberra's fast-becoming known for. For something a little fancier before returning home, start with a salumi board at A.Baker, before devouring everything on the Monster Kitchen and Bar menu.

SWAN VALLEY, WA

Half an hour from Perth, Swan Valley is WA's oldest wine-growing region (which means you might need to try a few whilst in town!). Brimming with fresh produce, gourmet goods and many microbreweries, explore the galleries and workshops along the Food and Wine Trail, before checking out Swan Valley Heritage Cycle Trail and Caversham Wildlife Park.

BRUNY ISLAND, TAS

A hop, skip and ferry ride away, Bruny Island boasts some of Tasmania's most beautifully preserved natural environments. Start your morning at South Bruny National Park, exploring the sandy beaches and incredible bushwalks that come with it, before heading to the panoramic Truganini Lookout. The island itself is also home to Australia's southern-most vineyard, as well as fresh truffles and oysters.

MORNINGTON PENINSULA, VIC

An hour's drive south of Melbourne, Mornington Peninsula is a must-see spot. Hit the surf at Point Leo or Portsea, before checking out the multi-coloured bathing boxes at Mount Martha. Known for the finest local wines, restock at Montalto Vineyard and Olive Grove, before heading to DOC Mornington for a pizza. And because it's been such a tough day, check into Peninsula Hot Springs for a dip in the bathing pool before the drive home.

You've got the itinerary. Now start exploring! Get Allianz Comprehensive Car Insurance and you could WIN a Mazda CX-5 to inspire your road trip. Learn more here.
