WANDERS LAND

The multi-talented Marcel Wanders has lent his skills to the interiors of the new Andaz Hotel in Amsterdam, part of the Hyatt group of hotels. The 122-room, five-suite hotel is the first Wanders has designed entirely, from table napkins to furniture, and is situated on the Prinsengracht, one of the three main canals of central Amsterdam. The hotel is built around a big walled garden, the walls covered in an enormous painting created by the designer himself. If you have a case of 'Wanderslust', this is the hotel for you. Rooms from $360. Visit amsterdam.andaz.hyatt.com.

The stylish new Baume & Mercier Linea 1016, $2950, is made from steel quartz, has a soft lamb's leather bracelet in beige, and a mother-of-pearl face. (02) 8415 5572.

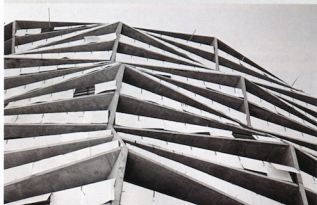

These Estée Lauder Pure Color Stay-On Shadow Paints are small but long-lasting – so perfect for travel. Pictured in Sinister and Halo, $45 each. esteeauder.com.au.

GLOBAL VILLAGE

Hotel Hotel promises to be fabulous and fabulous. The just-opened 'holistic' accommodation from the Australia-based Mononglo Group is housed on three levels within the Nishi residential building in Canberra, part of the NewActon cultural precinct. Founded on the pillars of sustainability, community, diversity and lifestyle, the 68-room, 31-apartment hotel is the result of a three-year collaboration between designers, artists, artisans and fantasists, including Fender Katsalidis (MONA Hobart), Suppose (Japan) and March Studio. The sustainable 'vertical village' contains global cinema, independent stores, music and local cafes and bars. The special opening rate for rooms booked before 1 April starts at $225. ## SHARING IS GARING

Do we sense a bunk bed trend? Freehand Miami is a reinvention of the historic Indian Creek Hotel, one of Miami's classic 1930s Art Deco buildings, and features both private and shared accommodations, including 'Quad' bunk rooms for four, in various configurations. Freehand is owned by the inventive Sydel Group, owners of New York's Nomad Hotel (page 34), which hopes to introduce the Freehand concept to other US cities shortly, incorporating innovative design and a community atmosphere at an affordable price. Private and shared rooms from US$140 (AUD$135); single beds from US$30 (AUD$29). Visit thefreehand.com.
